

MINE WORKERS OBEY COURT ORDER TO CALL OFF STRIKE

COMPLY BUT UNDER PROTEST;
CANNOT FIGHT GOVERNMENT,
PRESIDENT LEWIS DECLARES

General Committee Reaches Decision at 4:10 This Morning After All-Night Session; Adjourns Five Minutes Later to Reconvene at 2 O'clock in the Afternoon; Members Apparently Worn Out.

JUDGE ANDERSON APPROVES MINERS' ACTION

By Associated Press.
INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 11.—Judge A. B. Anderson in federal court at 10 o'clock this morning approved the order of the executive board of the United Mine Workers of America calling off the strike of bituminous coal miners.

COMPLY UNDER PROTEST, SAYS LEWIS.

INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 11.—An order calling off the nationwide bituminous coal strike was issued today following the decision of the general committee of the United Mine Workers of America early this morning to obey the mandate of United States District Judge A. B. Anderson issued here last Saturday. The general committee composed of international officers, district presidents and members of the executive board and scale committee reached its decision at 4:10 this morning and adjourned five minutes later, to reconvene at 2 o'clock this afternoon.

Gentlemen, we will comply with the order of the court. We do it under protest. We are Americans. We cannot fight our government. That is all. This was the statement of John L. Lewis, acting president of the mine workers, announcing the decision, and other members of the conference, apparently worn out by their long hours of discussion, declined to add to the statement of their chief and soon dispersed.

ORDER GOES OUT TO ALL DISTRICTS IMMEDIATELY

INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 11.—United States District Judge A. B. Anderson at 10 o'clock this morning approved the order of the officials of the United Mine Workers of America rescinding the strike order of October 25.

The action was taken following a session of the general committee of the miners which decided early today to comply with the mandate of the court, issued last Saturday. Judge Anderson characterized the order "good faith efforts" to comply with the mandate. The text of the order follows:

"Indianapolis, Ind., Nov. 11, 1919. To the Officials and Members of the United Mine Workers of America:

"Dear Sirs and Brothers:—In obedience to the mandate issued on November 8 by the United States court, District of Indiana, Judge A. B. Anderson presiding, the undersigned hereby advise you that the order of October 15 directing a cessation of operations in the bituminous coal fields of our jurisdiction is withdrawn and cancelled.

"Yours fraternally,
"WILLIAM GREEN,
"Secretary-Treasurer.
"JOHN L. LEWIS,
"President."

MEMORIAL TABLET FOR MEMBERS KILLED IN WAR IS PLANNED BY ALUMNI

Committee Planned to Investigate Proposals, Would Place It in High School.

At a meeting of the Connellsville high school alumni held last night at the Cameron school house plans were made for reorganization and the annual Thanksgiving dinner to be held on Wednesday evening, November 26, in the gymnasium. The following committee was appointed: Percy R. Sheetz, chairman; Mrs. P. R. Sheetz, Fred Frisbee, Charles A. McCormick, Willie Driscoll, James Arthur Barr, Paul Brickman, Elwood Keagy, Miss Helen Schuler, Miss Irene Solson and Miss Helen Adams.

A committee composed of E. T. Norton, Fred Frisbee and J. Montgomery Dittworth was appointed to investigate the proposition of the purchase by the alumni association of a tablet containing the names of the high school graduates and students who served in the war. The tablet, if purchased, will be placed in the new high school building.

A campaign for new members will be commenced at once and it is hoped to have every graduate affiliated with the society before the beginning of the year. John Duggan, Jr., president of the association, presided over the meeting.

PHILLIPS DECORATED

War Correspondent Made a Knight of French Legion of Honor.

Perceval Phillips, who was correspondent of The Pittsburgh Dispatch and the London Daily Express at the British front during the war, has just been notified that he has been made a chevalier of the Legion of Honor by the French government, in recognition of his work as a war writer. He was in Brussels when the war began and was the deft of the correspondents in the field, serving continuously from the beginning to the end of the war.

The noted correspondent was a Brownsville boy, at which place his mother resides. He recently visited her there.

There will be a membership booth there equipped to take care of applicants.

THE WEST VIRGINIA CREDITORS PROTEST THOMPSON'S SALE

Object to Proposed Method of Distributing the Proceeds.

SCRUGHAM ONLY WITNESS

Attempt Made to Show That Thompson Is Heavily Interested in the Piedmont Coal Company, the Intending Purchaser of His Holdings.

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 11.—Objections of West Virginia creditors of Josiah T. Thompson of Uniontown, to the sale of his remaining properties for a sum in excess of $150,000, were heard before Referee in Bankruptcy William R. Blate during a hearing yesterday.

The principal objection of the West Virginia creditors was to the distribution of the purchase price of the properties, which is proposed to be divided on the basis of two-thirds to the secured creditors and one-third to the unsecured creditors. G. R. Scrugham, one of the trustees of the Thompson estate, was the only witness examined during the hearing. Mr. G. R. Sperry, one of the attorneys representing the West Virginia creditors, attempted to show on cross-examination that Mr. Thompson was heavily interested in the Piedmont coal company, but the witness disclaimed any knowledge of it.

He stated that Attorney Samuel McClay of the firm of Reed, Smith, Shaw & Beal is president of the company, which is understood to be controlled by Pittsburgh capital. It developed that the purchase price is to be paid by $5,000,000 cash and the remainder applied in discharging various liens. A deposit of $500,000 with the Union Trust company of Pittsburgh has been made by the company to bind the purchase.

Attorney Sperry attempted unsuccessfully to show that the property, consisting of coal lands in Greene, Washington, Butler and Allegheny counties, Pennsylvania, and Weirick, Ohio, Harrison, Doddridge and Morgan counties, West Virginia, which are intended to be sold as a whole at private sale, was worth more than the sum stipulated. Mr. Scrugham stated that the amount offered was the highest obtainable.

Attorney A. Leo Well, representing the trustees, frequently objected to the cross-examination, many of his objections pertaining for the most part to attempts of Attorney Sperry to produce records of Thompson proceedings, being sustained by Referee Blate.

The federal court room, where the hearing is being held, was crowded with spectators. The hearing was resumed at 10 o'clock this morning, when Mr. Scrugham was called for re-direct examination.

LEGION URGES REWARD OF DOLLAR A DAY FOR ALL MEN IN SERVICE

Adjustment Bonds of Long Term and High Rate of Interest Advocated By Chairman.

By Associated Press.

MINNEAPOLIS, Nov. 11.—War service adjustment bonds amounting to $1 for each day in the federal service were proposed last night at the American Legion first national convention by Henry D. Lindsey, chairman of the convention, as the solution of the much-discussed problem of compensating service men and women for their physical and financial sacrifices. A favorable committee report on the recommendation was expected.

Minneapolis won over Washington by one vote for permanent national headquarters and will be recommended to the convention tomorrow.

The committee on next convention decided to recommend both Cleveland and San Francisco.

Universal military training was endorsed by a slight majority of the committee considering that subject. A strong opposition arose from the National Guard representatives. The Pennsylvania delegates announced they will make a strong effort to have national headquarters established in Washington.

Chairman Lindsey's "war service adjustment" suggestions, which he said in a statement had been endorsed by "a number of groups of thoughtful men of wealth," would involve a long term bond issue of approximately $2,000,000,000, drawing a high rate of interest and subject to all taxes "so that they would remain in the hands of service men rather than be accumulated by the rich. The American Legion should now and in the years to come set its face steadfastly against pensioning those who served in this war and their dependents."

Changes in the war risk insurance administration were recommended to another committee by Mr. Lindsey and were embodied in their recommendations. These include reduction of premiums by payment of dividends through "saving in mortality" and optional decisions of service men between payments to beneficiaries by a lump sum or installment. A premium "savings" of 25 per cent in the premium rates by dividends was shown by Mr. Lindsey's statement.

Greetings from Marshall, Fugh, Allied commander-in-chief, were transmitted by J. J. Janssman, French ambassador to the United States.

WHISTLES HERALD PASSING OF A YEAR SINCE FIGHTING CEASED ON ARMISTICE DAY

Locomotive and Factory Sirens Sound at 11 O'clock and Tremendous Din Results.

The first outward evidence that Connellsville knew today was the first anniversary of the end of the war, came at 11 o'clock when, in response to a request from The American Legion, whistles began blowing in the Baltimore & Ohio yards and at industrial plants. At first a few took it up, then others joined in the chorus until a din that made it impossible to hear anything else resulted.

Not many flags appeared in the business section during the morning; in fact, at 10 o'clock there were not more than a dozen on Crawford avenue. The Wright-Metzler company devoted its entire west window to a patriotic display, the centerpiece of which was an honor roll of Connellsville's sons who died during the war, draped in the national colors.

Patriotic exercises in the schools took up a large part of the morning. At noon the students were dismissed. Drug stores and banks closed at noon. Other business houses were to close at 3 o'clock.

The afternoon exercises included the dedication of the South Connellsville home roll at 1:30 and patriotic exercises in the high school at 3 o'clock under the auspices of The American Legion. Following is the program for the latter ceremony:

Overture—Kierle. Address—Mayor John Duggan. Welcome—Kierle. "I Will Extol Thee, O Lord," from "Elphig."

Mrs. Elizabeth Mae Brown. Address—Judge J. Q. Van Steenburg. Music—Kierle.

Address—Col. Edward Martin. Song—Mrs. Martha Eaton Brickman. Presentation of flag to Legion by Connellsville Boy Scouts.

Acceptance on behalf of Bishop Post—Mrs. Edgar J. Horner. "America"—Audience.

Postlude—Kierle. At 6 o'clock the women's auxiliary of the Legion will serve a luncheon in the social rooms at the Lyceum hall.

In the evening a dance will be held in the state armory.

SOUTH CONNELLVILLE DEDICATES MEMORIAL TO ITS HEROES IN THE WAR

South Connellsville this afternoon paid honor to its men and women in the service during the World War by the dedication of a granite shaft bearing the names of 105 persons—103 men and two women—who entered the war and four of whom gave up their lives in the cause of world democracy. Several hundred persons, including the school children in a body, attended the unveiling exercises at 1:30 o'clock. A delegation of about 20 members of Milton L. Bishop Post, The American Legion, was on hand also.

W. G. Ketter, chairman of the dedication committee, presided. After the audience had sung "America" and Rev. J. O. Bishop, of the church of the Evangelical Association, had delivered the invocation, John Wilder, general chairman of the memorial committee, formally presented the memorial to the people. Mr. Wilder read the names of those on the honor roll. During his address it was unveiled by a soldier and a sailor, Walter Artzman of the 310th Infantry and Lawrence Moorman of the U. S. S. McVie. John David accepted the memorial in behalf of the people. The service concluded with a benediction by Rev. Bishop.

During the way Roy Helms, John A. Lieb, James L. May and Raleigh Hall, gave up their lives for their country and the world.

Enrolled with the others in the service from South Connellsville were Miss Margaret Artzman and Miss Elizabeth Feather. Red Cross nurses. Other names on the bronze tablet inserted in a keystone in the granite shaft are:

Bernard P. Allen, Glaser P. Dorkhardt, Stephen Ball, Gerald B. Byrne, Julius E. Crouse, John E. Evans, Gerald Evans, George W. Pike, Clyde A. Gilpin, A. D. Hartman, James S. Jaynes, John A. Rev. Purnell Speaks on What the Day Means as Service in High School.

"The meaning of Armistice Day" formed the theme of an address to the students of the high school in the auditorium at chapel this morning by Rev. W. B. Purnell, pastor of the Presbyterian church at Dawson, in the opening of the program for the anniversary. After picturing the downfall of the German empire and the triumph of the Allies, Rev. Purnell told the students that when in the next three or four years their places have been taken in the school room by others a tremendous responsibility will have fallen on the young men and women now seeking knowledge.

The signals of the armistice, bringing to an end the old order, he said, means that in the next few years the state will be wiped off of all that appears thereon now and it will then be up to the young men and women now in school to write on the slate the things that are to mean life or death to the nation. "Armistice Day means the laying on the shoulders of the boys and girls of high school age a tremendous responsibility," he said. "By the time the last of you have passed out of this room the real burden will have fallen on you."

In the interim, said Rev. Purnell, the questions that are now confronting the nation will probably have been worked out and the way will have been paved for the young of the land to enter upon the field.

While Germany has been conquered as a military power, the speaker cautioned against acceptance of any belief that the German mind has changed. "Your high schools must be manned against the high schools of Germany. It will be well to look into their methods. They don't put off the fourth and fifth grades, and I believe they are right. They too, will be anxious to waste on the state-of-life."

COUNCIL DECIDES ON IMPROVEMENT OF FIRST STREET

Ordinance Covering Project That Has Been Considered For Years Ordered.

ONE CONTRACT HELD UP

Seventh Street Job, Awarded to Malachuk Duggan Some Time Ago, Delayed by Lack of Plan to Finance It; Short Term Bonds Are to Be Sold.

Early improvement of two more streets, First and Seventh, West Side, proposals for which were made some time ago, was considered at the monthly meeting of city council last night. An ordinance for the paving of First street was ordered drawn for presentation at the next meeting and the award for Seventh street to Malachuk Duggan was withdrawn.

First street has been before council from time to time for several years. Bernard O'Connor has been a consistent champion of the improvement. He was on hand again last night with a declaration that existing conditions cannot be permitted to continue. The contract for the paving of Seventh street, south, was awarded some time ago to Mr. Duggan, but owing to lack of a plan for financing the work it was held up. It was decided last night to float short term bonds. This plan also will be followed in First street.

Councilman B. L. Berg reported having reached an agreement with Charles Young for the purchase of a strip of land for widening Jefferson street. Council authorized the payment of the price, $275. Mr. Young already has moved back his fence.

Further hearing was given the dispute as to the boundary lines of Fox alley, between East Crawford avenue and Ogden street, between the property of Carroll V. Smider and C. G. Reese. The line which Mr. Reese claims is his reaches out several feet into the alley and along this line Mr. Reese built a fence, practically closing the alley. It is claimed, Council recently ordered the fence removed.

Mr. Reese employed Attorney H. G. May to present his side of the controversy and last night Mr. May and Mr. Smider appeared before council. Efforts at compromise failed. Council advised that the property holders at odds and the city engineer attempt again to agree on a "give and take" plan. If this is fruitless council will have the engineer define the alley and it will then be up to the property holder most damaged to appeal.

In order to eliminate what is declared to be a dangerous condition in South Pittsburgh street, permission was granted the Bell Telephone company and the Tri-State Telephone company to reconstruct their pole lines in South Pittsburgh street between Church place and Davidson avenue. The companies will use one pole line on the west side of the street, the Bell shifting to the Tri-State system and removing its towers from the east side of the street. By doing this a number of poles along the street will be eliminated.

City Engineer Foust was directed to negotiate with propertyholders abutting the proposed outlet south for West street with a view to securing reasonable prices for the land necessary. One man whose property will be benefited by the improvement petitioned for has asked $1,600 for a small strip. It was stated in council.

Permission was granted Peter Carotti to remove the old Presbyterian parsonage building from the lot purchased by the Fayette Baking company to the rear of the former A. W. Reed lot at Peach street and Meadow lane. The baking company will erect on the old parsonage site a modern bakery.

Mayor John Duggan presided over the meeting of council. It was the first he had attended since he was taken ill last May.

Heartfield Farmer Raises One 36 Inches Long, Weighing 13½ Pounds.

Lawrence Miller, a Clearfield county farmer, has raised a bean, the pod of which is 36 inches long and 1½ inches around the middle. It weighs 13½ pounds.

This is the largest bean ever heard of, say local gardeners. Local people who know the farmer who raised it say he's a "trick" man, too.

C. A. WAGNER CELEBRATES BIRTHDAY WITH STAG DINNER

Yesterday marked the birthday anniversary of C. A. Wagner, the well-known moving picture man, and in honor of the occasion Mrs. Wagner was hostess at an elaborate stag dinner last evening at the Wagner home in North Pittsburgh street. In order to successfully carry out her plans Mrs. Wagner arranged for Mr. Wagner to spend the day hunting with two of his friends. Just as they were about to leave for home Mr. Wagner's companions in order to detain him until the guests arrived, intentionally allowed their dog to stray away. Arriving home Mr. Wagner was given one of the greatest surprises of his life when greeted by a few of his intimate friends who had been invited to assist in celebrating the anniversary of his birth. The dinner was well appointed, and the menu consisted of the many good things which help to make a real stag dinner. There was a large birthday cake with candles denoting the age of the honor guest. In commemoration of the happy event Mr. Wagner's friends presented him with gifts, appropriate for hunting expeditions.

The guests were Frank Lewis, Los Angeles, Cal.; J. Grier, Pittsburgh; G. H. Wagner and G. W. Wagner, Dunbar; Howard Riter, Scottsdale; John W. Hart, J. A. Murray, John Snyder, Charles H. Daisley, J. W. Mitchell and J. J. Driscoll, all of this city. Mrs. Wagner's aides were Mrs. John Snyder, Mrs. J. A. Murray and Mrs. Charles R. Kunkle.

Successful Antigua Dance. A successful Antigua dance and card party was held last evening in the public school hall. The affair was largely attended and was one of the most delightful social events held in the hall for some time. Entrance and five hundred were the amusements for those who cared not to dance. At the close of the games attractive prizes were awarded as follows: Five hundred, Mrs. H. M. Kephart, Mrs. John Duggan, Mrs. Otto Kehler, Mrs. L. Schuler, Anthony King and John Irwin; eucrye, Mrs. Mary Weaver; Mrs. Weiser, Daniel M. Casim and H. B. Brown. Dancing was indulged in until midnight. Kiefer's orchestra played. Refreshments were served.

D. A. U. P. Club. Miss Anna Kate Trump will entertain the D. A. U. P. club this evening at her home in East Green street.

Outlook Club Meets. The regular meeting of the Outlook club was held yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Phoebe Dunn in South Prospect street. The next meeting will be held Monday afternoon, November 24, at the home of Mrs. W. L. Wright in South Pittsburgh street.

Dinner for Soldier. Mr. and Mrs. A. Wittaker gave a 2 o'clock dinner at their home in Fayette street in honor of their son, J. C. Whitaker, who recently returned from overseas, where he served for 15 months. Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Jones and family of Lockport were out of town guests.

Armistice Day Dance. Society is increased in the Armistice Day dance to be held tonight in the armory under the auspices of the Milton L. Bishop Post, The American Legion. The dance will mark the closing of the Armistice Day celebration and promises to be one of the largest and most enjoyable social functions of the season. The committee in charge has left nothing undone towards looking after the entertainment of the guests and all who attend are assured a delightful time. A number of features, including shadow and moonlight waiting have been arranged. The music by Kiefer's orchestra promises to be a big attraction of the dance. The popular violinist has arranged a program of all the newest dance hits of the season. A buffet luncheon will be served.

Meeting Postponed. A meeting of the social committee of the Woman's Benefit association of the Macabees which was to have been held last evening at the home of Mrs. J. W. Howard in West Apple street, was postponed until Thursday night. Plans for a banquet to be served Tuesday evening, November 18th, at which time a large class of candidates will be initiated and a reception for new members held, will be made.

Dance Invitations Issued. Invitations have been issued for a Fraternity club dance to be held Friday evening, November 14th, in Colonial Inn.

Water Suit Nov. 17

City Suing Local Company Because of Damage to Streets.

More than a score of witnesses in behalf of the city have been summoned for the trial of the suit of the city against the Conneltsville Water company for damages to Fairview avenue and other streets, because of leaking mains, which led to the filling in Uniontown November 17. The alleged damage was caused during and following the prolonged cold weather of the winter of 1918 when mains froze and burst.

In its answer to the suit the water company denies that the streets were damaged by reason of the breaking of the mains. It also denies that after making repairs in Fairview avenue it failed to properly relay the paving.

Considerable annoyance is experienced by passengers and equipment of the West Penn Railways company is being badly damaged by boys and young men crawling in and out through car windows. This occurs mostly with the center entrance type of cars and results from over anxiousness on the part of these persons to get seats or to get off. A great many of the West Penn cars of this type have ugly scars on the paint just under the windows all of which have been caused by shoes scraping the sides as passengers crawl in the windows.

Not only is this destructive to property but it is quite annoying to passengers sitting at the windows. Further it is seriously objected to by those persons who do comply with the company's regulations in waiting at the doors until they are opened and then on getting inside the car find a bunch of these young persons crawling through the windows.

In Conneltsville and at Mount Pleasant this practice is most annoying and the West Penn has determined to break it up. Special officers will be stationed to pick up the offenders and their names will be taken at the time they are caught, followed with prosecution. They will be charged with disorderly conduct, which carries with it a fine of $10 and costs or imprisonment, not to exceed 30 days in jail.

PRINCE AT CAPITAL

English Heir to Throne Welcomed by Vice President Marshall.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11.—Albert Edward, Prince of Wales and heir to the British throne, arrived in Washington today to be welcomed by Vice President Marshall, acting for President Wilson. Reception ceremonies at the Union station were informal, although the cabinet officers and high officers of the Army and Navy were gathered to greet the youthful visitor who will spend three days in the capital before visiting New York on his way home.

A drizzling rain did not prevent the gathering of interested crowds along the route over which the prince and his party, preceded by a cavalry escort, passed to the Perry Belmont motor, reserved for the distinguished visitor.

After luncheon the prince was to call on Mrs. Wilson at the White House, and it was expected he would see the President in his sick room. Mr. Wilson's physician having announced that his patient's condition would not prevent the call.

make thorough preparation for assuming the larger burdens of life when they are ready to cut school.

In the opening of his address Rev. Purnell lauded the work of America in the war. One hundred fifteen days of active warfare on the part of the American forces, after four years of struggle by the Allies against the Central Empire, with the breaks all favoring the Germans, brought to a climax a war, which he said cost more in human lives than all the other wars of a hundred years combined. Contrasting with the carnage the full following November 11, 1918, he said there came to the world a greater volume of peace than was given by all the peace treaties of a century before.

America's bringing to a successful end the struggle brought this nation marvelous opportunity in which he said it was the privilege and duty of every one in high school to share. Rev. Purnell also conducted the morning devotion, in which was included the singing of patriotic songs. The speaker was given an ovation when he appeared on the stage and a greater one when he had concluded.

OLD RELIGION NEEDED

Evangelist in United Brethren Church Talks Issue with Spectacular.

"Effective evangelism" was the subject of Rev. Paul F. Mickey of Latrobe, the evangelist, in the services last night in the United Brethren church, in which he is being assisted by E. M. Henschel of Altoona, singing evangelist. For Monday evening the attendance was good and a fine spirit was manifested.

"It is difficult," the speaker said "to get folks to confess Christ, and do efficient work, according to the decision of the leaders of the churches. Some one is to blame for this condition of things today. I do not find it so. Folks are ready to join in effective soul winning."

"Reformation is not sufficient. The old time religion is needed. Ye must be born again. I will not explain regeneration but go back to the Word of God. What we need is to go to God for anointing. Jesus went after His man and got him. The apostles went after their man and they got him. Also they were saved both by individuals and in groups."

"A spiritual evangelism is needed. Then spectacular things will be done. So many are like Pat. He joined the 'big meeting.' Religion in the home is needed. Mothers, have you said to your daughters: 'Take Jesus as your personal savior.' How many of you realize your responsibility? Then we must pray, having a definite objective. Now the secret of getting to it is consecration to the work of evangelism and God will set us apart. What we want is to be willing to do what God wants us to do—go anywhere, say anything God wants us to do or say."

Services tonight will be at the same hour, 7:30 o'clock.

TO FORM CLASSES

Women Interested in Home Hygiene Will Meet at Uniontown.

A meeting of women interested in the establishing of classes in home hygiene and care of the sick will be held at the Fayette County chapter headquarters, 416 Fayette title & Trust building, Uniontown, November 12th, at 3:00 P. M.

Notices have been sent out to a number of women over the county to attend this meeting but it is open to any one interested in this work and all such are invited to attend. Miss Edna Klinger, new public health nurse and instructor of the Fayette County Red Cross, will be present and fully explain the method of organizing and conducting these classes as well as future plans for relief and health work in the county. This is one of the principle peace-time activities of the Red Cross and it is hoped a number of classes can be organized immediately in different parts of the county as knowledge of home nursing and care of the sick would prove a great help in combating disaster and epidemics.

FARMERS' INSTITUTES

To Be Held on Changed Plan: Will Not Begin Until December.

HARRISBURG, Nov. 11.—Pennsylvania farmers' institutes which have been conducted for a half century will be placed upon a new basis the coming season. Instead of opening November 15, they will begin December 1. The schedules will be arranged from month to month instead of a whole season, so that changes can be made where deemed advisable.

Owing to the amount of money available, the institutes will be fewer in number than in the last 10 years. The plan of consolidating programs and making the addresses in line with the problems of the community has been worked out.

Among the counties selected for the opening month are Fayette, Somerset, Westmoreland, Greene and Washington.

TEACHING ALIENS TO BE AMERICANS

FEDERAL AUTHORITIES REALIZE THAT SCHOOLS OF CITIZENSHIP ARE INDISPENSABLE.

CONGRESS WILLING TO AID.

Features of the Bill introduced by Senator Dillingham of Vermont—Measures Restricting Immigration Probably Will Be Passed.

By JAMES P. HORNADAY.
Washington.—The teaching of Americanism to persons of foreign birth is to be done on a larger scale than ever before. Recent developments in many sections of the United States have convinced the federal authorities that every dollar expended in teaching the duties of American citizenship to foreigners is money well spent. It is a significant fact that in industrial centers in which the division of citizenship training of the bureau of naturalization has been unusually active for several years there is no such unrest as has developed in industrial centers where up to this time the government has not devoted any special attention to the teaching of Americanism to the aliens. So the federal authorities who are interested in this work of making American citizens of foreigners are convinced that from this time on citizenship schools should be conducted in every community where there is any considerable number of foreigners in need of instruction.

Congress is showing a disposition to back up the work of the division of citizenship training of the bureau of naturalization in a larger way than ever before. Senator Dillingham of Vermont, who for many years was chairman of the senate committee on immigration, has introduced a bill which would make it compulsory for all candidates for citizenship, of the age of eighteen years and upward, to attend a citizenship school. The Dillingham bill would recognize in an official way the office of the director of citizenship, a place that was created last year by the secretary of labor and is now filled by Raymond F. Crist.

Senator Dillingham's bill. The Dillingham bill takes the view that the office of director of citizenship should be made one of great importance; that it should have plenty of money to carry on this work of making Americans out of the foreigners and should at all times have the cordial support of the legislative body. Senator Dillingham proposes that congress shall set aside $500,000 to be used during the next fiscal year in this work of educating candidates for citizenship.

It is now certain, the bureau of immigration says, that unless congress puts up the bars there will be a tremendous movement of humanity toward the United States during the next few years. The indications are that congress will pass restrictive legislation, but small probability, so the leaders say, of closing the doors to all the foreigners who will want to come. In any event, according to the director of citizenship, now is the time to be preparing to educate the aliens who will come in. Persons who have given this subject thought are of the opinion that in the future the United States should not only exercise more care in letting the alien in, but devote more attention to those aliens who are permitted to come in.

Restriction on Immigration. It is certain that in the future, at least for the next few years, the government will take the precaution of looking over every applicant for admission under the immigration law before he leaves his home country. The house of representatives has already passed a bill, and the senate undoubtedly will pass it eventually, which provides that representatives of the state department shall give every passport granted to an alien. Secretary Lansing, in asking for this legislation said that if the law should be enacted the department would through its diplomatic and consular representatives make an investigation before it issued a passport. This investigation to go to the point as to whether the person who desired to come to America was politically sound, and also to the point as to whether he had ever been classified as a criminal. If the new restrictions that are being considered are embodied in legislation, they will to some extent make easier the work of the division of citizenship training.

Secretary Lane of the department of the interior, who for several years has shown great interest in this subject, is making a special plea for the inauguration of a nation-wide movement which will result in reducing the number of illiterates in this country. The secretary has made the point that while the government is establishing schools for the education of alien candidates for citizenship, it should not forget that several million native-born Americans can neither read nor write. It is agreed all around that this business of hunting out the illiterates of American birth and getting them interested in schools belongs to the states rather than to the federal government. The immediate effort is to create public interest in the subject.

Mother! Teach the Children Their Daily Health Duty

You can't be too insistent!

FEW children find pleasure in life's things most vital to their physical comfort and health, so it rests with the watchful mother to see that they are done. The child will be grateful in after years.

Chief among the functions necessary to the upbuilding of the little body, so that it will not be a dyspeptic, constipated body when it matures, is elimination regularly every morning. If the mother will be insistent and allow nothing to interfere with it, it will soon become a habit, a daily routine that will not be forgotten throughout life.

There are times, however, when nature will not operate unaided. Then give Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, which is a combination of simple laxative herbs with pepsin, and the headache, the biliousness, the torpor will quickly disappear. It acts gently and without griping, and as it contains no narcotics and is pleasant to the taste, it may be given to infants. Thousands of families have been regulated to healthy activity with Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. A bottle will be bought at any drug store for 50c and 51. Those who already know its virtues buy the dollar size and consider it economical. In a large family there is always someone who would feel better for a dose of a good medicine like Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin.

In spite of the fact that Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is the largest selling liquid laxative in the world, there is a great deal of each year, many who need its benefits have not yet used it. If you have not, send your name and address for a free trial bottle to Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 311 Washington St., Worcester, Mass.

AROUND THE WORLD WITH THE AMERICAN RED CROSS. In Italy.

Arriving at one of the most critical stages of the war, when the Germans were forcing the Italian army back to the Alps, the American Red Cross rushed emergency relief from Paris and revived the drooping spirits of the whole country. In addition to furnishing rations and comforts and medical attention to the fighting men, the American Red Cross instituted 42 soup kitchens, 30 children's hospitals, 30 children's dispensaries, 14 artificial limb factories, five homes for refugee children, 10 rest stations for refugees.

This photograph shows a group of Italian refugee children being fed by the American Red Cross at one of the numerous relief stations.

Quit Laxatives, Purges; Try NR

NR Tonight—Tomorrow Feel Right

It is a mistake to continually dose yourself with so-called laxative pills, calomel, oil, purges, and enemas, and force bowel action. It weakens the bowels and liver and makes constant dosing necessary. Why don't you begin right today to overcome your constipation and let your system in such shape that daily purging will be unnecessary? You can do so if you take one box of Nature's Remedy (NR Tablets) and take one each night for a week or so. NR Tablets do much more than merely cause pleasant easy bowel action. This medicine acts upon the digestive as well as eliminatory organs—promotes good digestion, causes the body to get the nourishment from all the food you eat, gives you a good hearty appetite, strengthens the liver, overcomes biliousness, regulates kidney and bowel action and gives the whole body a thorough cleansing out. This accomplished you will not have to take medicine every day. An occasional NR tablet will keep your body in condition and you can always feel your best. Try Nature's Remedy (NR Tablets) and prove this. It is the best bowel medicine that you can use and costs only 25c per box, containing enough to last twenty-five days. Nature's Remedy (NR Tablets) is sold everywhere and is guaranteed to give complete relief.

Many of the toilet articles which are in daily use can be made up at home. Cleansing cream, tissue building creams, lotions for skin diseases, shampoos and hair tonics do not require a professional to make them successfully, and save women who have time and ambition, still mix those things for themselves. They have the satisfaction of knowing that the ingredients are clean and pure, and on some things they save money.

For a dry skin, after the face has been washed in warm water with a bland soap and rinsed in cold water, the following cream is recommended: White wax, one ounce; spermaceti, one ounce; almond oil, four ounces; rose water, four ounces. Rub in the skin and then wipe off with a soft cloth, before applying powder. At night, rub it in the skin and allow it to remain. When creams are made at home they are so thoroughly beaten, the longer the smoother the cream will be.

Cream for Tissue Building.

Pure spermaceti, one-quarter ounce; pure white wax, one-quarter ounce; lanolin, two ounces; almond oil, one-quarter ounce; coco butter, one-quarter ounce; Melt and then add half of Peru, one drachm; let it settle, pour off the clear part and then put in of orange flower water, two fluid drachms, and keep on stirring until it becomes solid.

The other cream for building up the tissues is of spermaceti, half ounce; mutton tallow, five ounces; olive oil, five ounces; coconut oil, four ounces; oil of sweet almond, four ounces; tincture of benzoin, one drachm; extract of Portulaca, four ounces; oil of neroli, 20 drops. These creams are good; use either one, but use it constantly; do not omit a night during the month. If one can take a dessert spoonful three times a day of live oil it helps to nourish the starved tissues.

To Remove Pimples.

No. 1—Borax, one ounce; powdered bitter almonds, one ounce; enough honey to make a smooth paste. No. 2—White vinegar four ounces; sulphur water two ounces; acetic acid, one-half ounce; distilled water four ounces; mix and apply twice a day.

It is better to consult a physician in case of obstinate pimples. A small red pimple which comes from obstruction of the skin and imperfect circulation may sometimes be cured by frequent washing in warm water and prolonged friction with coarse towel.

A Tooth Powder for Daily Use.

No. 1—Borax powder, two ounces; precipitated chalk, four ounces; myrrh, one ounce; iris, one ounce. Mix together.

No. 2—Take equal parts of prepared chalk, oris, rosin, carbonate of magnesia and mix the powders together.

New Sleeve Ideas.

The newer blouses all seem to have some new idea carried out in the sleeves. The double sleeve is seen, which consists of an oversleeve of organdy or plain colored or white georgette. There is a distinct tendency toward added fullness above a very narrow cuff at the wrist. Very short sleeves are not considered here, as they are in Paris. One sees elbow sleeves occasionally, but for the most part they are all long and even extending dresses continue to have sleeves of the same sort, even if they are only a slip of silk at the shoulder.

YANKEE MARINE HEIR OF SULTAN

Harem He Has Never Seen Is Part of Estate.

IS ADOPTED BY MORO RULER

Sergt. Robert McLean, While Serving in the Philippines Becomes Friendly With Natives, Learns Language and Makes Hit With Sultan—Ruler Dies Without Male Heirs and Sergeant Inherits Fortune.

Sometimes it's an advantage to fall heir to property, and then again it makes a difference just what the property is. How would you like to wake up some morning and find that overnight you had fallen heir to 40 wives?

Well, that is the situation confronting Sergt. Robert McLean of the marine corps recruited station, 24 East Twenty-third street, New York.

You see, it all happened this way. The sergeant, who is a "silent dog" of several years' service, spent two of those years in the southern Philippines among the savage Moros who inhabit that region.

While there he mastered the native language, and became so friendly with the native "sultans" that on his departure he was officially adopted by the sultan of Ling-Liang, a small island off the Borneo coast.

The "sea soldier" returned to this country, and his memories of Ling-Liang became hazy until the other day, when he was notified that the old sultan had died without a legitimate heir, and he, the sergeant, had inherited the title, with its accompanying perquisites, which include a healthy harem.

Sergt. McLean is a good sport, and he is going right there to see just what his property is, wives and all.

"I have been refused from the marine corps to make the trip," he told me at the recruiting station, writes Fay Stevenson, "and I am going to see the thing through. Perhaps the old sultan doesn't own a bit of property, saving the harem, but I am going to investigate."

upon stills eight feet high and had 20 rooms. The cows and pigs and chickens were kept in the space underneath the stilt. There were no windows of glass, but instead they are made of this same tapa fiber, slide up and down, and are always kept closed during the rainy seasons.

"And speaking of the harem, they were off in quarters by themselves, and during my stay in my adopted father's house I never set eyes upon them; so, whether they are as old as my grandmother or mere flappers, I know not. Some of the native women are quite pretty."

"But now did the sultan come to me?"

AMERICANIZATION OF ALIENS PURPOSE NEW SENATE BILL

Committee Investigating the Steel Strike Wants Compulsory Education.

STATES TO HAVE A SHARE

In the Work Through Co-operation With the Federal Government; "First Paper" Men Who Evaded Military Service to Be Deported.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6.—Largely as the result of the inquiry the Senate Committee on Education and Labor has made into the steel strike, Congress is to address itself to evading plans for the Americanization of aliens who are unable to write or speak the English language, or who do not understand the laws and custom of the United States.

To accomplish this purpose the Senate committee has drafted a bill. The proposed measure prescribes rules and regulations for the education of aliens and appropriates a liberal supply of money to carry it out. The work of education would be carried on by the federal government in cooperation with the states through the Bureau of Education.

An appropriation of $12,500,000 a year for three years is authorized to carry out the program.

Hearty cooperation of the states is required, and no money is to be paid to the states until they shall, through their legislatures, agree to these conditions.

Accept the provisions of the act and designate an appropriate official, as custodian of money allotted them. Authorize their departments of education or chief school officials to cooperate with the federal government in the work.

Appropriate or make available for the purpose an amount equal to that allotted them.

Require, under penalty, all persons who come within the provisions of the act to attend classes of instruction for not less than 200 hours a year until they have completed a specified course. They shall provide for the education of all aliens of 16 years and over, and of citizens of the United States of the age of 21 years or more who are illiterate and cannot understand the English language. The total sum to be allotted to any one state shall not be less than $5,000 each year for the work of education.

The House committee on immigration, considering many bills dealing with aliens, will report favorably the starker features of the bill introduced by Representative M. Clyde Kelly of Bradlock, authorizing the deportation of the 200,000 or more aliens who took out their first naturalization papers and who, when the United States entered the war, withdrew them to evade military service.

"According to the report of General Crowder, judge advocate general of the Army, 764,056 aliens evaded military service during the war. These men ranged in age from 21 to 31 years and came under the first selective call. The figures submitted by General Crowder are:

Co-belligerents and neutral aliens claiming exemption and were placed in Class 5, 589,003; aliens discharged from the Army on the claim of alienage, 11,344; declarants who withdrew declaration of intention, 1,745; declarants (co-belligerents and neutrals), who deserted after registration, 129,268.

Of Course I'll Take Celery King

I take it every season and do so mother and the children. It's old fashioned and made of roots and herbs, but it's right there, just the same, and costs next to nothing.

We all think it's the best tonic laxative we ever heard about, and so do other people we have recommended it to.

Take it every other night for three weeks. If you want to feel better, sleep better, work better and be better.

It purifies the blood, clears the skin and chases away that worn out feeling. Brew a cup tonight just like you make tea. You'll like it.—Adv.

We Offer For Public Subscription at Par Value ($10.00 per share) a Limited Block of Seven Per Cent. Preferred Stock of

The Truck and Tractor Distributing Company Capitalization, $400,000.00. Common Stock, $150,000.00.

Preferred Stock, $250,000.00. With Each Purchase of Preferred Stock a 30% Bonus of Common Stock is Given.

The Company was organized for the purpose of taking over the Truck Tractor and Forwarding Company, which has been doing a live business of selling trucks and tractors and operating an express line with headquarters at Scranton, Penna.

The business of the Company has reached a point where it needed additional capital to carry on the steadily increasing business that it has built up and the enlarged capitalization of this newly formed Company will enable the Company to operate on a large scale in the future.

The Company has exclusive selling contracts on the Wheat Tractor which has been so largely adopted by farmers. It also has contracts with Commercial Truck Manufacturers and Body Manufacturers which offer unlimited possibilities in the sales field and especially in the district in which the Company operates.

Part of the money raised from the sale of Preferred Stock will go to purchase the building in which the Company's store rooms and shops are now located and on which the Company has a purchasing option at a very low figure. This in itself, with the present real estate boom in Scranton will bring a comfortable premium and it is also the aim and purpose of the Company to engage in the selling of pleasure automobiles, for which there is an unlimited market and a steadily growing demand in Scranton and its vicinity.

It is needless to dwell upon the truck and tractor situation of the country, and their marketing possibilities. The Company is managed by men of good business experience, men who are familiar with this business, and men who are vouched for by bankers and business men of their locality and who are able and willing to assist and manage the entire business of the Company.

The capitalization is as low as is consistent with the operations planned. To those who desire to participate in a legitimate enterprise, we submit this for their careful consideration. Can you afford to miss this opportunity? A combination of conservative business men who have invested their own money in the undertaking and who in safeguarding their interest will also protect yours, are inviting you to join them in this enterprise of unlimited possibilities.

A square deal to every stockholder is the policy of the Company. The principal aim is to establish this Company on a permanent and profit-producing basis to eventually take its place along with large companies whose names have become household words. It is the purpose to rush operations. The policy reduces speculation to a minimum and the proposition presents an investment of unlimited possibilities.

Statements contained herein, while made in good faith and with the belief that they are accurate, are nevertheless not guaranteed.

Every tire has embossed on the side a serial number. It is important that the car owner should have a record of this number in each case and such record should be made when the tire is bought.

A lap robe, a gunny sack, or even some old newspapers will frequently be enough to get a car out of deep sand or a mudhole if placed in front of the rear wheels to provide traction.

In inspecting the springs attention should be given to the spring hangers and other subsidiary parts. Lost motion, usually side play, often develops in the spring hangers and shackles.

Motorists frequently overload their storage batteries by the use of electrical accessories and included in the car's regular equipment and then wonder what's wrong.

Many drivers do not know how to take the bumps easily. A good way is to throw out the clutch and apply the footbrake gradually.

The COW PUNCHER

By Robert J.C. Stead

"Kitcheners, and other poems"

Illustrated by Edwin Myers

They reached an open space. Something black—or was it red?—lay on the ground. Dave bent over it a moment, then looked up to her white, clear face and clearer than ever since witnessing the strength of his hate.

"It's a calf," he said as calmly as he could. "Half up Wolves, I guess."

"The poor, poor thing!" she breathed. "The poor, innocent thing! Why did it have to die?"

"It's always the innocent things 'at suffers," he answered.

"Always the innocent things," she repeated mechanically. "Always."

She sprang to her feet and faced him. "Then, what about the justice of God?" she demanded.

"I don't know nothin' about the justice of God," he answered bitterly. "All I know is the critter 'at can't run gets caught."

There was a long pause. "It doesn't seem right," she said at length.

"It ain't right," he agreed. "But I guess it's life. I see it here on the prairies with every livin' thing. I guess I was like that some. I've been caught. I guess a baby ain't responsible for anything, is it? I didn't pick my father, nor my mother did I. But I got to live it."

There was something near a break in his voice on the last words. She felt she must speak.

"I think your father is a wonderful old man," she said, "and your mother must have been wonderful, too. You should be proud of them both."

"Reenie, do you mean that?" he demanded. His eyes were looking straight into hers.

"Absolutely," she answered. "Absolutely I mean it."

"Then I'm goin' to say some more things to you," he went on rapidly. "Things 'at I didn't know whether to say or not, but now they've got to be said, whatever happens. Reenie, I haven't ever been to school or learned lots of things I should 'a' learned, but I ain't a fool, neither. I didn't learn to break all those bottles in a day. Well, I can learn other things, too, an' I will, if only it will take me across. I'm goin' to leave this old ranch, some way, just as soon as it can be arranged. I'm goin' to town an' work. I'm strong; I can get pretty good wages. I've been thinkin' it all over, an' was askin' some questions in town today. I can work days an' go to school nights. An' I'll do it. I'll get me across. You know what I mean, but what's the chance? I know I don't talk right, and I don't act right; you tried not to notice but you couldn't help—but, Reenie, I think right, an' I guess with a girl like you that counts more 'an' catin' an' talkin'."

She had thought she could say yes or no to any question he could ask, but as he poured forth these plain, passionate words she found herself unprepared in a frame that found no expression in speech. She had no words. She was glad when he went on.

"I know I'm only a boy an' you're only a girl. That's why I don't ask no pledges. I leave you free, only I want you to stay here until I have my chance. Will you promise that?"

She tried to pull herself together. "You know I've had a good time with you, Dave," she said, "and I've gone with you everywhere, like I would not have gone with any other boy I ever knew, and I've talked and let you talk about things I never talked about before, and I believe you're true and clean and—"

"Yes," he said. "What's your answer?"

"I know you're true and clean," she repeated. "I know you're true and clean—that when I'm a woman and you're a man, and then—then we'll know."

He was tall and straight, and his shadow fell across her face as though

"Reenie," he said, "Kiss Me."

even the moon must not see. "Reenie," he said, "Kiss me."

For one moment she thought of her mother. She knew she stood at the parting of the ways, that all life for her was being molded in that moment. Then she put both arms about his neck and drew his lips to hers.

CHAPTER III.

Dave's opportunity came sooner than he had expected. After the departure of the Harveys things at the old ranch were as both father and son had predicted, very different. They found themselves on a sort of good behavior—a behavior which, unhappily, excited in each other grave suspicions as to purpose. The tension steadily increased, and both looked forward to the moment when something must give way.

For several weeks the old man remained entirely sober, but the call of the appetite in him grew more and more insistent as the days went by, and at last came the morning when Dave awoke to find him gone. He needed no second guess; the craving had become irresistible and his father had ridden to town for the means to satisfy it. The passing days did not bring his return, but this occasioned no anxiety to Dave. In the course of a carouse his father frequently remained away for weeks at a stretch.

He roamed around the ranch looking for the little stream, casting pebbles in the water, or rode over the old trails on which she had so often been his companion.

Then the old man's horse came home. Dave saw it coming up the trail, not running wildly but with nervous gallop and, many sidelong turnings of the head. As the boy watched he found a strange emptiness possess him; his body seemed a phantom on which his head hung over-heavy. He spoke to the horse, which pulled up, snorting, before him, noted the wet deck and danks and at last the broken stirrup. Then, slowly and methodically, and still with that strange sensation of emptiness, he saddled his own horse and set out on the search.

After the last rites had been paid to the old rancher, Dave set about at once to wind up his affairs, and it was not until then that he discovered how deeply his father had been involved. The selling of the cattle and the various effects realized only enough to discharge the liabilities, and when this had been done Dave found himself with a considerable area of unmarketable land, a considerable bundle of paid bills and his horse, saddle and revolver. He rode his horse to town, carrying a few articles of wear with him. It was only after a stiff fight that he could bring himself to part with his one companion. The last miles into town were ridden very slowly, with the boy frequently leading forward and stroking the horse's neck and ears.

He sold horse and saddle for sixty dollars and took a room at a cheap hotel until he should find work and still cheaper lodgings.

In the evening he walked through the streets of the little cow town. It snubbed him with its indifference. He became aware that he was very lonely. He realized that he had but one friend in the world; but one, and of her he knew not so much as her address. . . . He began to wonder whether he really had a friend at all; whether the girl would not discard him when he was of no further use, just as he had discarded his faithful old horse. Tears of loneliness and remorse gathered in his eyes, and a mist not of the twilight blurred the street lamps now glimmering from their poles. He felt that he had treated the horse very shabbily indeed. He wanted old Slop-eye back again. He suddenly wanted him with a terrific longing; wanted him more than anything else in the world. For the moment he forgot the girl and all his home-sickness centered about the beast which had been so long his companion and servant and friend.

"I'll buy him back in the mornin'!" he said to himself. "I'll sure as hell—"

He was just about to say "I'll sure as hell—" when a man came riding up, and then—then we'll know."

He was tall and straight, and his shadow fell across her face as though

ANOTHER CITIZEN OF PITTSBURGH PRAISES REMEDY

C. Jackson, 108 Burnetts Street, Now Relates Experience With Ten-Herbs.

One of the most interesting statements recently made regarding Ten-Herbs in Pittsburgh is that of Mr. C. Jackson of No. 108 Burnetts street, a well-known business man, who has been a resident of that city for many years. He stated:

"I have been troubled with my stomach for the past few years, was bloated with gas, and had indigestion so bad that I could not keep the lightest kind of food in my stomach. I was very nervous and could not sleep at night, my liver was sluggish and my kidneys were also affected. I had taken many different medicines without any benefit whatever and it was only when I started to take your Ten-Herbs that I got relief. I can now honestly say that I have no more trouble with indigestion sleep well at night, and have no trouble with my liver or kidneys. I feel better in every way."

Ten-Herbs is a scientific blending of the essence of certain roots, herbs, berries and fibers which have been known to medical science from time immemorial for their curative and healing properties in cases of stomach, liver and kidney diseases. Only the proportions of each and the modern method of blending are secret. Ten-Herbs is sold in Connelville at the Connelville Drug Co. Store—Adv.

"Smooth guy, that," said someone at his side. The remark was evidently intended for Dave, and he turned toward the speaker. He was a man somewhat smaller than Dave, two or three years older, well dressed in town clothes, with a rather puffy face and a gold-filled tooth from which a corner had been broken as though to accommodate the cigarette which hung there.

"Yes," said Dave. Then, as it was apparent the stranger was inclined to be friendly, he continued, "What's the idea?"

The stranger nudged him gently. "Come out of the bunch," he said in a low voice. When they had moved a little apart he went on, in a confidential tone. "He has a little trick with these cards that beats him in the way of his smooth as grease, but the thing's simple. Oh, it's a awful simple! Now you watch him for a minute," and they watched through an opening in the crowd about the table. The player held three cards—two red ones and a black. He passed them out rapidly over the table, occasionally turning his hand sideways so that the onlookers could see the position of the cards. Then he suddenly threw them face down on the table, each card by itself.

"The trick is to locate the black card," Dave's companion explained. "It's easy enough if you keep your eye on the card, but the trouble with these rubes is they name the card and then start to get out their money, and while they're fumbling for it he makes a change so quick they never see it. There's just one way to beat him. Get up close, but don't say you're getting interested. Then when you're dead sure of a card crack your fist down on it. Give yourself right to it and get out your money with the other hand. When he sees you do that he'll try to bluff you, say you ain't on it; but you just tell him that don't go, this is an open game, and he's got to come through and the crowd'll back you up. He'll make him once—a whole hundred first crack—and then he'll be burred me. Watch him."

Dave watched. Saw the black card go down at one corner of the board, saw a bystander fumbling for a five-dollar bill; saw the bill laid on the card; saw it turned up—and it was red.

"That is smooth," he said. "I'd 'a' sworn that was the black card."

"So it was—when you saw it," his companion explained. "But you were just like the sucker that played him. You couldn't help glancing at the jay getting out his money, and it was in that instant the trick was done. He's too quick for the eye, but that's how he does it."

Dave became interested. He saw two or three others lose lives and knew it was plain his companion's tip was straight. There was just one way to beat this game, but it was simple enough when you know how. He added close to the table, making great pretense of indifference but watching the cards closely with his keen black eyes. The dealer showed his hand, made a few quick passes, and the black card flew out to the right. This was Dave's chance. He pounced on it with his left hand, while his other plunged into his pocket.

"Sixty dollars on this one," he cried, and there was the triumphant note in his voice of the man who knows he has beaten the other at his own game.

"You Ain't Playin'!" Said the Dealer. "You Ain't In on This."

"You ain't playin'!" said the dealer. "You ain't in on this."

"That don't go," said Dave very quietly. "You're playin' a public game here, an' I chose to play with you this once. Sixty dollars on this card." He was fumbling his money on the table.

"You ain't playin'!" repeated the dealer. "You're a butt-in. You ain't in this game at all."

"Sure he's in," said the crowd. "That ain't right," whined the dealer, "but you got it on me. Turn 'er up."

The card was red. Dave looked at it stupidly. It was a moment or two before he realized that his money was gone. Then regardless of those about, he rushed through the crowd, flinging bystanders right and left, and plunged into the night.

He walked down a street until it lost itself on the prairie; then he followed a prairie trail far into the country. The air was cold and a few drops of rain were falling in it, but he was unconcerned of the weather. He was in a rage through and through. Slop-eye was now a dream, a memory, gone—gone. Everything was gone, only his revolver and a few cents remained. He gripped the revolver again. With that he was supreme. No man in all that town of men schooled in the ways of the West was more than his equal while that grip lay in his palm. At the point of that muzzle he could demand his money back—

WOMEN GIVE OUT.

Housework is hard enough when healthy. Every Connelville woman who is having backache, blue and nervous spells, dizzy headaches and kidney or bladder troubles, should be glad to heed this Connelville woman's experience:

Mrs. M. Thorne, 209 N. 7th St., says Doan's Kidney Pills have been used with very good results in our family. I myself have found them an excellent remedy for backache and kidney irregularities. At times my back got lame and sore and pained in a dull nagging way. Often it became so bad I would get down with the pain and then I would suffer from severe headaches and dizziness. My system would be entirely out of order and I would feel miserable. At such times I always used Doan's Kidney Pills and in a short time all the trouble would disappear. I get Doan's at Harmer's Drug Store and I keep them on hand all the time."

The Quick Way to Stop a Cough

This home-made syrup does the work in a hurry. Easily prepared and cures about 60%.

You might be surprised to know that the best thing you can use for a severe cough, is a remedy which is easily prepared at home in just a few moments. It's cheap but for prompt results it beats anything else you ever tried. Usually stops the "dry" cough or chest cold in 24 hours. Tastes pleasant, too—children like it—and it is pure and good.

Pour 2½ ounces of Pinex in a pint bottle, then fill it up with plain granulated sugar syrup. Or use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, instead of sugar syrup, if desired. Thus you make a full pint—a family supply—but cost no more than a small bottle of ready-made cough syrup.

And as a cough medicine, there is really nothing better to be had at any price. It goes right to the spot and gives quick, lasting relief. It promptly soothes the inflamed membranes that line the throat and air passages, stops the annoying throat tickle, loosens the phlegm, and soon your cough stops curiously. Splendid for bronchitis, croup, hoarseness and bronchial asthma.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of Norway pine extract, famous for its healing effects on the membranes. To avoid disappointment, ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with directions and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money refunded. The Pinex Co., St. Wayne, Ind.

NOT SOARING.

"I never heard of you as having the slightest chance for a presidential boom."

"No," replied Senator Sorghum. "I know my limitations, and I am not discontented. Most anybody can get heat for a nomination to high office, but it takes a pretty good line of ability and luck to hold on to moderate distinction term after term."

A HAT AND A TOQUE

A riot of flowers, blue lavender and pink ranging to crimson, crown the black velvet hat at the top. The ribbon is blue silver edged. Below the tongue of duvigne is lace with navy blue velvet on crocheted rings that makes an unusual trimming. Blue velvet is used, also for the lower part of the toque.

CHANGES MIND ABOUT GOING AWAY

Five years ago doctors told me I would have to move my wife to another climate, as she suffered so with stomach and liver trouble and bloating. Also, that she would have to have an operation for gall stones. Our mail carrier told me of May's Wonderful Remedy and, on his advice, she has taken it and is now as well as ever in her life. It is a simple harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach liver and intestinal ailments including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded. A. A. Clarke and druggists everywhere—Adv.

WORKS HARD TO AVERT FLU EPIDEMIC

Government and City Health Officials Warn People to Keep Clean.

Stay Away from People with Coughs and Colds.

"Avoid crowds if you want to avoid influenza," says Association for Improving the Conditions of New York.

Keep your hands clean, drink plenty of fresh water; sleep with windows open; eat three uniform meals a day including a good breakfast.

People who have catarrh or frequent colds invite influenza, declares a prominent Kentucky druggist.

The membrane of the throat and nose is raw, sore and tender, and makes a lovely sliding place for germs to thrive and multiply.

He advises an inexpensive home-made remedy that will bring relief in less than a day and will stop all discharge and cough and heal the inflamed membrane in a few days.

Thousands are making this beneficial remedy at home and anyone who has catarrh or a cold can do the same.

Four three-quarters of an ounce of Mentholized Arcline into a pint bottle, then fill the bottle with water that has been boiled.

Gargle the throat as directed and sniff or spray the liquid into the nostrils twice daily. It's a simple way to get rid of cold and catarrh and keeps the nasal passage and throat clean and healthy.

Nearly all druggists dispense Mentholized Arcline in vials containing exactly three-quarters of an ounce, which is all you need to make a pint of this healthful medicine.

CHAPTER III.

Dave's opportunity came sooner

than he had expected. After the departure of the Harveys things at the old ranch were as both father and son had predicted, very different. They found themselves on a sort of good behavior—a behavior which, unhappily, excited in each other grave suspicions as to purpose. The tension steadily increased, and both looked forward to the moment when something must give way.

For several weeks the old man remained entirely sober, but the call of the appetite in him grew more and more insistent as the days went by, and at last came the morning when Dave awoke to find him gone. He needed no second guess; the craving had become irresistible and his father had ridden to town for the means to satisfy it. The passing days did not bring his return, but this occasioned no anxiety to Dave. In the course of a carouse his father frequently remained away for weeks at a stretch.

He roamed around the ranch looking for the little stream, casting pebbles in the water, or rode over the old trails on which she had so often been his companion.

Then the old man's horse came home. Dave saw it coming up the trail, not running wildly but with nervous gallop and, many sidelong turnings of the head. As the boy watched he found a strange emptiness possess him; his body seemed a phantom on which his head hung over-heavy. He spoke to the horse, which pulled up, snorting, before him, noted the wet deck and danks and at last the broken stirrup. Then, slowly and methodically, and still with that strange sensation of emptiness, he saddled his own horse and set out on the search.

After the last rites had been paid to the old rancher, Dave set about at once to wind up his affairs, and it was not until then that he discovered how deeply his father had been involved. The selling of the cattle and the various effects realized only enough to discharge the liabilities, and when this had been done Dave found himself with a considerable area of unmarketable land, a considerable bundle of paid bills and his horse, saddle and revolver. He rode his horse to town, carrying a few articles of wear with him. It was only after a stiff fight that he could bring himself to part with his one companion. The last miles into town were ridden very slowly, with the boy frequently leading forward and stroking the horse's neck and ears.

PEACE TIME ARMY BILL IS DELAYED

COMMITTEE UNDECIDED ABOUT SEVERAL POINTS, ESPECIALLY UNIVERSAL TRAINING.

REACTION AGAINST LATTER

System May Be Limited to Educational Institutions—General Staff's Plan for Size of Permanent Army Won't Be Accepted.

By JAMES P. HORNADAY.
Washington.—Legislation creating a permanent peace military establishment will not be taken up by congress until December. The house committee on military affairs, which is to initiate the legislation, desires to hear several more witnesses, among them General Pershing, before reaching a final decision with respect to several points connected with the proposed legislation. What to do about universal military training is giving the committee much concern. Since the beginning of this special session a large number of bills have been introduced providing either for universal military training or universal military service. Those bills have in the regular course found their way to the committee on military affairs. Three months ago any member of the committee would have said that the committee would certainly include a provision for universal military training in the reorganization bill. Today the members of the committee are not at all certain that such a provision can be voted out of the committee.

The situation that has developed with respect to universal training is due, members of the military affairs committee say, to the reaction among the people against anything which in their judgment tends toward militarism. Such a reaction, it is asserted, always follows a great war, but the military affairs committee when it entered on the work of preparing a bill for the reorganization of the army on a permanent peace basis supposed that the country would not only favor universal military training but would demand it.

Training May Be Limited to Schools.
It seems that not only members of this committee, but congressmen generally, are receiving many communications from their constituents in which objection to any sort of compulsory military training in time of peace is made. An informal poll of the 21 members of the military affairs committee the other day revealed only seven votes in favor of universal military training.

And yet it is the judgment of most of the experienced members of the legislative body that the new army legislation will make some provision for giving a large number of youths military training. It may be, say members who take that view, that it will be necessary to agree to a compromise under which the training will be limited to the students of high schools and universities. A great amount of this sort of talk has been done for a great many years, though until the time the United States entered the world war the government had not even kept a record of the number of young men who received military training in the educational institutions of the country.

The size of the permanent peace army has not been definitely determined, but it is evident that neither the house committee on military affairs nor the congress as a whole, for that matter, has any thought of accepting the recommendation of the general staff that the peace basis be fixed at 575,000. A large number of officers of high rank have said to the military affairs committee that they do not believe an army of that size is necessary. The probability is, members of the committee say, that the maximum strength of the army will probably be fixed at 200,000. Congressmen who favor an army of about that size say that with the maximum strength of the National Guard fixed at 400,000 it is not necessary to maintain a large standing army.

National Guard to Be Fostered.
The reorganization legislation when it finally comes out of committee will make provision for definite recognition of the National Guard. The way will be opened for co-operation between the regular army and the National Guard troops at frequent intervals; and it is proposed to make it possible for men who show good capacity as officers in the National Guard to enter the regular establishment if they care to do so.

Future developments under the treaty of peace with Germany and particularly under the League of Nations may affect the size of the United States army. The reorganization bill would probably have been reported to the house of representatives before this were it not for the fact that the military affairs committee felt that it ought to wait as long as possible for information as to the number of troops, if any, that are likely to be used abroad under the treaty. Up to this time the information on this point is rather indefinite. The executive department tells the committee that no one can say what the call on the allies and the United States will be under the treaty until there is a general readjustment following the formal declaration of world peace.

To Reduce Your Weight Quickly and Easily

If you are too fat, or if your figure has become flabby and you are carrying a round, a burden of annoying unhealthy flesh, the cause is, ten chances to one, lack of oxygen carrying power of the blood and faulty assimilation of the food. Too little of the food is being made into good hard tissue and muscle and too much into little globules of fat. Every man and woman reader of this paper who is too fat, whose flesh is soft and flabby should try the new preparation, Phynola, a simple, but remarkably efficient formula put up for convenient home use.

WOMEN AND BANKING

Many Members of the Fair Sex Now Write Checks.

Five years ago few women had checking accounts. Today a great many women write their own checks, having discovered that paying by check is the simplest and safest way and that a checking account is especially valuable in keeping track of household expenses. Banks as a rule invite and encourage women to open checking accounts. The First National of Connellsville, for instance, has the accounts of many women and is always glad to advise and assist them in their monetary transactions.—Adv.

Get from any drug store a package of Dr. Carter's K. & B. Tea. Put contents in a bowl. Add a level teaspoonful of sugar. Mix and pour over this a teaspoonful of boiling water. Cover and allow to stand for at least 2 hours. Strain and flavor either with Essence of Peppermint or Wintergreen, according to taste.

Dose for adults, 1 tablespoonful each night or night and morning, until a regular movement of the bowels is effected. For children, 1 teaspoonful more or less according to age. For a real tonic and blood purifier, 1 teaspoonful every night, or every other night for at least three weeks. Cut this recipe out and paste it on the bottle.—Adv.

Only a Cold.
Are you ill? It is often answered—"Oh, it's only a cold," as if a cold was a matter of little consequence, but people are beginning to learn that a common cold is a matter not to be trifled with, that some of the most serious diseases start with a cold. As soon as the first indication of a cold appears take Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. Remember that the sooner you get rid of your cold the less danger, and this remedy will help you to throw it off.—Adv.

LARGEST JEWELRY ESTABLISHMENT IN PITTSBURGH.

PEARLS

Pearls are at once the most beautiful, the most coveted, the most prized of all jewels. They are worn by women of influence and social standing in all countries. Before the War we had collected and have on hand a superb collection. Today in the barren market Pearls like these are absolutely unobtainable. The result is our Pearls are priced much below the present market value. Instead of replacing by buying entirely new, and inferior Necklaces, we have built up our larger ones, by adding to smaller Necklaces on hand, and giving our patrons the benefit of lower prices. Pearls are an absolutely safe investment as they are constantly increasing in value.

that wonderful peace
which stilled the guns
November 11, 1918.

Let's get out, display our colors and pay homage to the steadfast courage of our American manhood and while the flags are flying and the din is loudest—let's not forget to breathe a heartfelt prayer of thankfulness that the war is over, that our boys are home and that we are.
